

ERIN VERMILYE
Assistant Director, Advocacy
International Association of Chiefs of Police

---

Erin Vermilye is the Assistant Director for the International Association of Chiefs of Police's Advocacy team. In this role, she oversees member engagement through a variety of Association-wide initiatives, programs, and services.

Since joining IACP in 2004, Ms. Vermilye has been responsible for developing training programs, working with membership divisions, sections, and committees, managing federally funded grant programs, overseeing the IACP's Annual Conference and Exposition, and serving as Senior Advisor to the Office of the Executive Director. Prior to working at IACP, Ms. Vermilye worked for a law firm and other nonprofits.

She earned her B.S. in Justice and Policy Studies from Guilford College in Greensboro, NC.