

Fraudulent Use of Rental, Lease and Financed Motor Vehicles

1.800.THE IACP

theIACP.org

BACKGROUND

As a result of manufacturers making vehicles more difficult to steal, there has been an increase in fraudulently obtaining rental, lease, or financed vehicles. Criminals are using them to commit other crimes, including violent crimes.

Obtaining a rental, lease, or financed vehicle by theft, fraud, or having someone else rent and fail to return allows an offender to conceal their identity and avoid being connected to other crimes they have committed.

Identifying them as “Civil Matters” and failing to enter them as a stolen fraudulently obtained vehicle only enables criminals to commit other crimes in vehicles that are difficult to trace back to them and creates an officer safety issue.

CRIMES ASSOCIATED WITH USE OF RENTAL, LEASE, OR FINANCED VEHICLE

Fraudulently obtained rental, lease, or financed vehicles have been linked to suspects or criminal organizations involved in other crimes. These other crimes include but are not limited to:

- Altering VINs
- Burglary
- Civil Unrest
- Dealing in Stolen Vehicles
- Disposing of Lien Property
- Gun Smuggling
- Illegal Substance Trafficking
- Murder
- Robbery
- Terrorist Activity
- Use of Vehicle by Wanted Person
- Vehicle or Vessel Thefts

METHODS USED TO OBTAIN VEHICLES FRAUDULENTLY

These four methods used to obtain rental, lease, or financed vehicles fraudulently are:

- Failure to Return
- Identity Theft
- Posing as a “Straw Buyer”
- Submitting False Information

VIOLATIONS OF LAW

In instances where a vehicle has been obtained fraudulently, there is a bonified rental, lease, or finance company that is a legitimate victim and violations of existing statutes have occurred.

Violations that occurred when the vehicle was rented, leased, or financed fraudulently include:

- Auto Theft
- Disposing of a Liened Property
- Failure to Return a Rental or Lease
- Forgery
- Fraud Involving a Security Interest
- Identity Theft
- Lien Sale Frauds
- Loan Fraud
- Organized Scheme to Defraud
- Vehicle Title Fraud

METHODS USED TO DISPOSE OF VEHICLES

- Altered VINs
- Export
- Fraudulent Lien Sale Title Transfer
- Illegal Sub-leasing or Sub-renting
- Sold Retail or Wholesale
- Turned Over for Use in Other Crimes

HOW THESE FRAUDS ARE BROUGHT TO LAW ENFORCEMENT ATTENTION

Law Enforcement entities are frequently made aware of fraudulently obtained rental, lease, or financed vehicles from these sources:

- Lease or Lien Holder
- Other Investigations
- Real Owner/Victim Notifies Police
- Title Fraud Detected

CLOSING RECOMMENDATIONS

Fraudulently obtained rentals, leases, or financed vehicles are in many instances not “civil matters” and should be investigated to determine if violations of your state statutes have occurred. The added benefits are that identifying the vehicle as a stolen or fraudulently obtained vehicle may lead to the detection of more serious crimes and additional charges for the suspect(s). In some cases, the more serious crimes may be deterred because the criminal’s mode of transportation has been disrupted. Combating fraudulent vehicle purchases will help reduce and prevent many more serious crimes.

Crimes Associated with Use of Rental, Lease, or Financed Vehicles

Robbery, Motor Vehicle Cybersecurity, Tow Truck, Title Fraud, Drug Trafficking, Homicide, Burglary, Fraud & Insurance Schemes, Shootings, Terrorism, Identity Theft, Arson

