ELERV STEERING COMMITTEE ROSTER

Agencies are encouraged to consider including members of each of the following groups on the steering committee, if available.

* There are several important considerations when inviting victims/survivors to participate on Steering Committees. All criminal cases and appeals in their cases should be resolved before victims/survivors are considered for participation. Consideration should also be given for the length of time since the victimization, whether the person has engaged in support services, and the person’s assessment of their readiness to participate. Measures should be put in place to ensure victims/survivors are appropriately prepared for the expectations of their participation and are supported before, during, and after their participation. It is also important to note that one victim/survivor participant will not be representative of all victims/survivors.

 Selected faith leaders should be representative of the community as a whole and not just from one denomination. A chaplain can also be considered for participation.
